Letter

Dear Roy & All members of the Club

Just a few words to tell you all about how one little FALCON showed what its made of.

My wife and I just got back from a round trip to Florida from Mass. with some very good results from our 1964 Futura Hdtp. With a little wind at our nose going south we managed a respectful 24.8 miles per gal. and on the return trip 26.3, for just over 25½ MPG

But what was really amazing is the fact that after 4628 miles of traveling at an average speed of about 52 MPH, we are still driving only ½ (one half) quart low on oil. I guess I'll just have to change it "it doesn't want to burn any".

At one point we averaged 27.4 MPG for one stretch in N & S Carolina. No other problems at all, I just cant get over this car. Where the ---- did those Detroit minds wander off to

By gosh "FALCONS ARE FOREVER"

Milt & Phyllis Robar

Now Milt let me know what Engine, Trans and Rean end your Falcon has to let everone else knowED.

1960-65 Project report:

The results of the 60-65 low milage survey are as follows:

1960 Falcon 2 Dr Deluxe 14,800 Miles

Dave Mackenzie of Industry Pa. FCA #496

1962 Falcon 2 Dr Sedan 10,800 Miles

Falcon Squire with optional wagon roof rack

FALCON SQUIRE Here's where other compact wagons fall far behind. In elegance the Squire has the field to itself. Rich simulated wood trim (with the beauty of the real thing and none of the bother) is a styling touch straight from the finest of wagons (also a Ford!). Wall-to-wall carpeting . . . full deluxe trim . . . power tailgate window . . . all are standard. If you want to make your Squire a sports wagon, that can easily be arranged. Try the lively combination of 170 Special Six* and floor-mounted 4-speed stick shift*. (The fun they can wring out of regular gas!) Or, live it up all the way with Squire's most elegant option—bucket front seats and console!
